Year after year, cars become more prominent in high school student's lives. They enjoy having "wheels" to "cruise" around in. It gives them a feeling of freedom and responsibility. The theme for this year's yearbook was derived from that dream. Also, cars signify the different directions that our lives turn. As long as we stay in the drivers seat, we can fulfill even our wildest dreams. I hope you enjoy your yearbook.

The hungry and starving from Africa

Suzette Charles and the decrowned Vanessa Williams

From June '84 to June '85 was a most active period of time, beginning with the presidential election. President Reagan and the Vice-President George Bush were up against Walter Mondale and Geraldine Ferraro, making this a big step for women in the course of governmental history. Another exciting event of the year was the 1984 Olympics held in Los Angeles, U.S.A. Many countries didn't attend because of diplomatic differences but that didn't spoil the performances of the participating athletes. Mary Lou Retton made her big debut by stealing the show in the gymnastics department, winning many gold medals for the U.S.A.

Dan Marino also made his debut in the NFL as the quarterback of the Miami Dolphins. Dan dazzled many crowds and led the dolphins to the Superbowl which ended up in defeat by the San Francisco 49ers.

A breakthrough in medicine occured with the perfection of the artificial heart. The first recipient was the critically ill William Shroeder. This device gave him a second chance at life. Not all the people of the world were as lucky. Thousands died everyday of dehydration and starvation. U.S.A. for Africa produced an album of songs, highlighted by "We are the World". The proceeds were donated to the fund for Africa.

Much controversy was raised over the decrowned Vanessa Williams as Miss America. The new Miss America was Suzette Charles, who won first runner-up.

The year was marred by different terroristic acts which ended in death for many U.S. citizens. Several of the U.S. embassies have been bombed and many planes have been hijacked.

Every year, there are different artists who make their debut as either an actor, singer, or sometimes both. Many trends are started by these popular public figures. A high school student on a Friday night, can probably be found at a movie, or a dance. Lots of money is spent on transportation to Pittsburgh to experience the thrill of a live performance. The movie theaters are also packed full. Throughout the 84-85 school year, students wore concert shirts and movie buttons of various artists. Here are a few of the more common ones.

Prince featured in Purple Rain

Harrison Ford featured in The Temple of Doom

Duran Duran featured in A View to a Kill

Eddie Murphy featured in Beverly Hills Cop

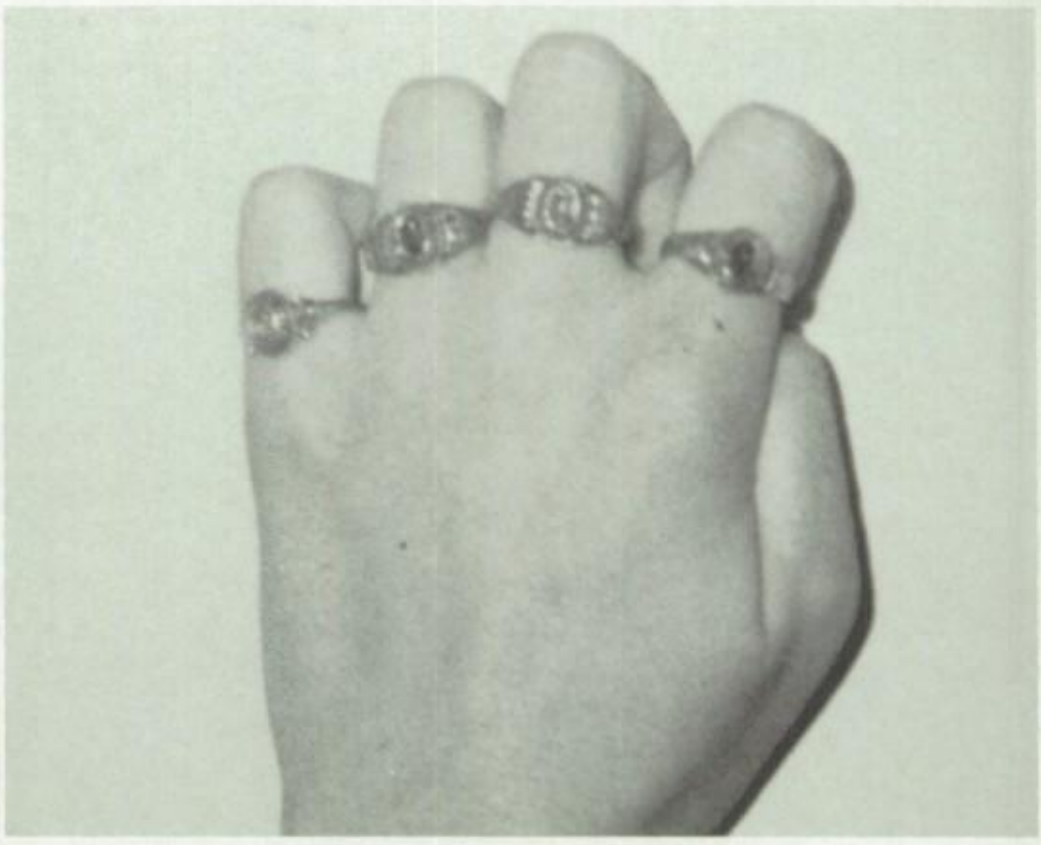
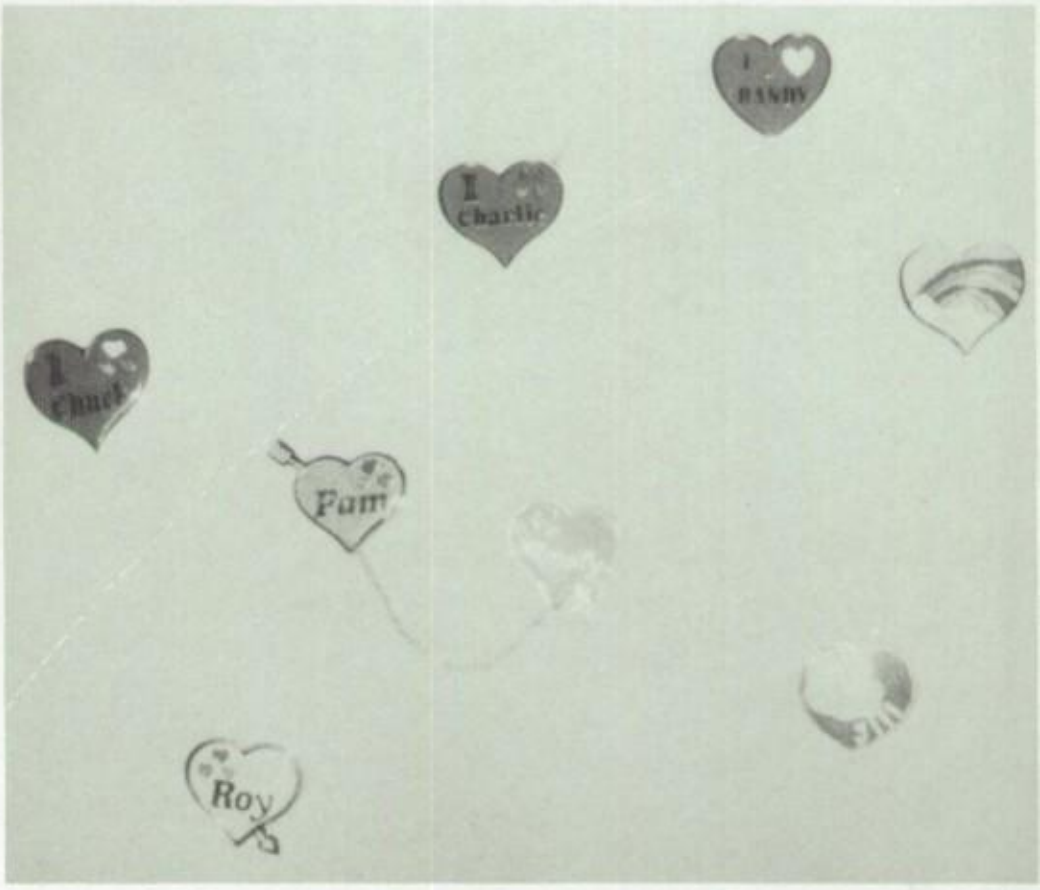
Mickey Mouse returns.

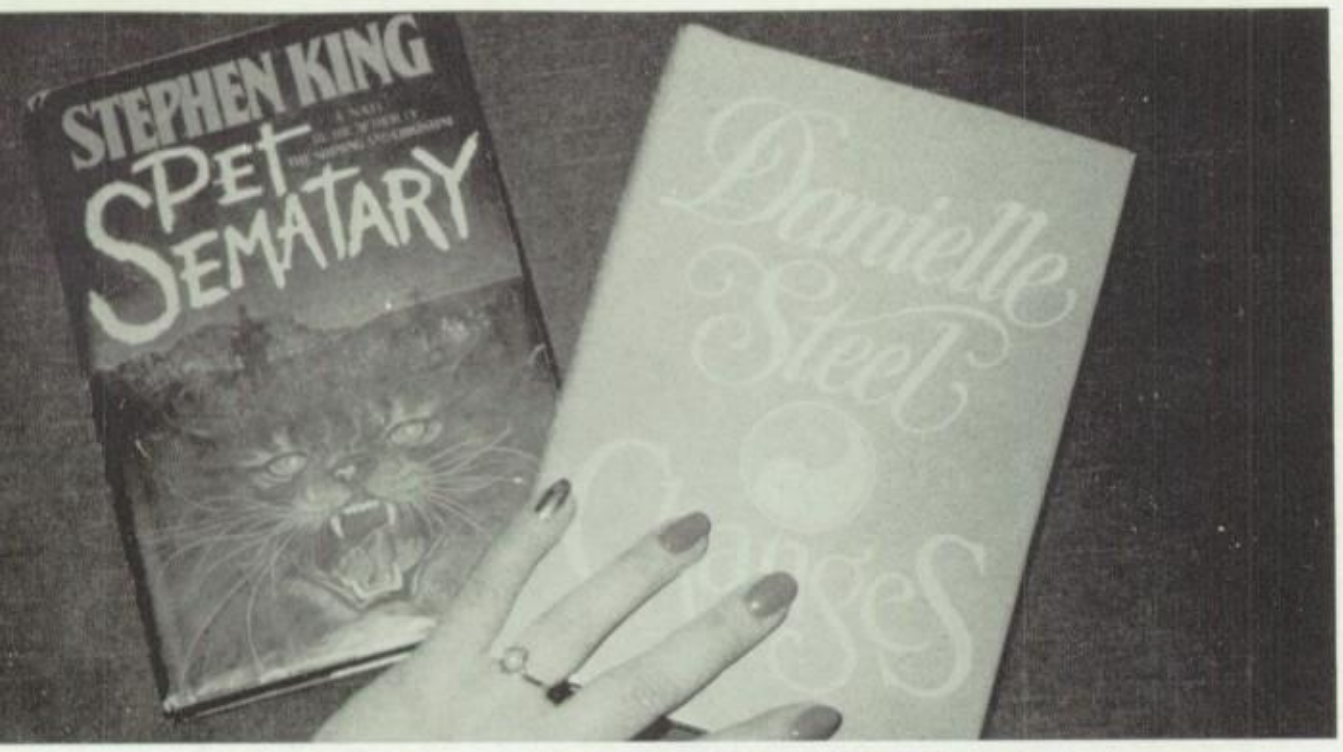


The "new" class ring is a popular item.



Heart pins add a special touch.

Shoes are the final addition to an outfit.



The best-seller authors: Stephen King and Danielle Steel.

Cropped pants and jeans are a common sight.

The A-R EXCLUSIVE!

A guy's popular item was the denim vest.

Wild prints on short skirts were "in."

The fads and fashions of the times are perpetuated by the teenagers, and the teens of A-R are no exception. The students and the faculty show who they are by what they wear. Their personalities can be seen through jeans, shirts, dresses, suits, and shoes. The big hit of this year was the mini-skirt. They decorated the halls in all types of colors and fabrics. Mickey Mouse & Co. also made a comeback. Usually in bright colors, they were pictured coming and going. Shoes varied from plastic "jellies" to leather combat boots. Other common footwear was leather Nike tennis shoes, and any size, shape, form, or fabric of ankle boots. Ankle-cut jeans or cropped pants were a common sight. The conventional girl's class ring was converted to a "jewelers-style" ring. A very popular fad that swept through the school was personalized heart pins. Stephen King and Danielle Steel stayed on the top of the A-R student reading list. Other fads such as fluorescent colors, twice around belts, low heel shoes, gold fingernails, ear-cuffs, blue-jean jackets, tank tops, and oversized sweaters were the popular items for an up-to-date appearance. The A-R exclusive was the blue and gold W.P.I.A.L. track championship jacket.

Romance is an important part of high school. A high school sweetheart can help find and express one's own personality. Many positive traits such as love, loyalty, responsibility, and understanding bloom as a result. These relationships can last a day or a lifetime. There are a few of the familiar A-R couples which have been together throughout the 1984-85 school year. After seeing them, we are sure you'll agree that they are DYNAMIC DUOS!

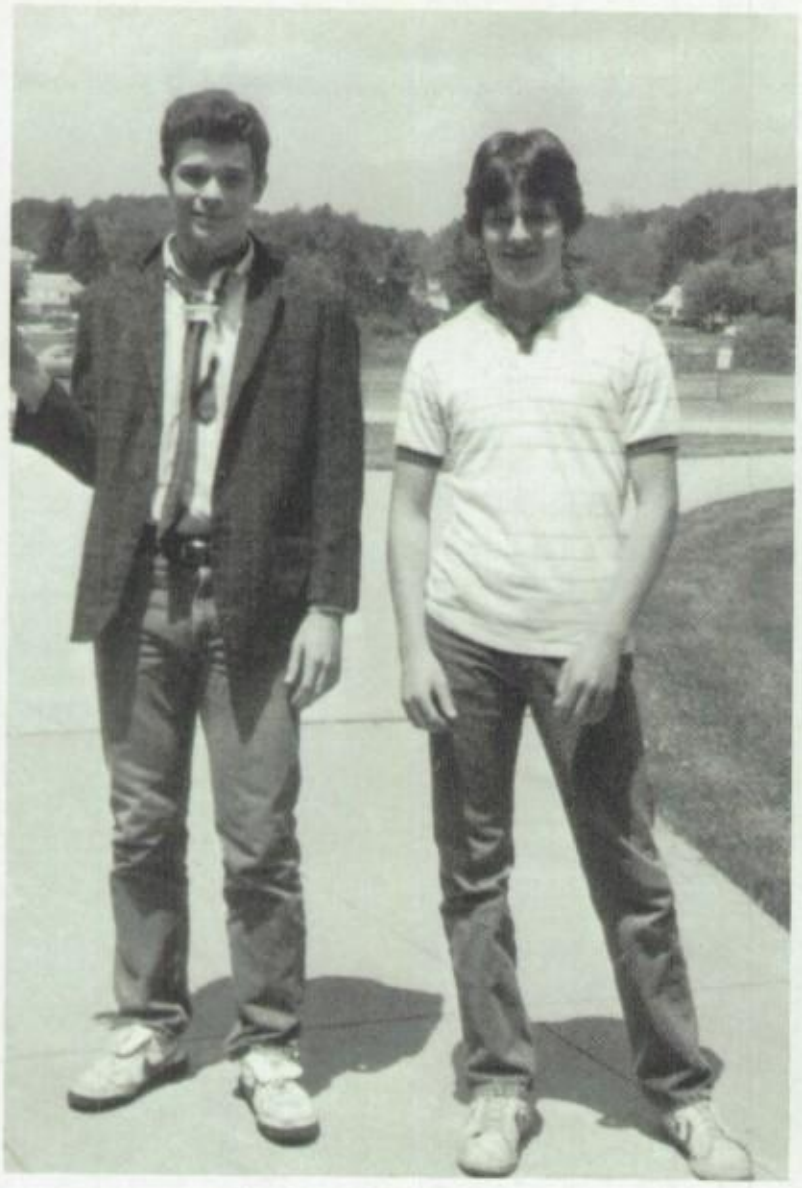
Double Trouble



Kevin and Kerry Trenny

John and Jim Whitlinger

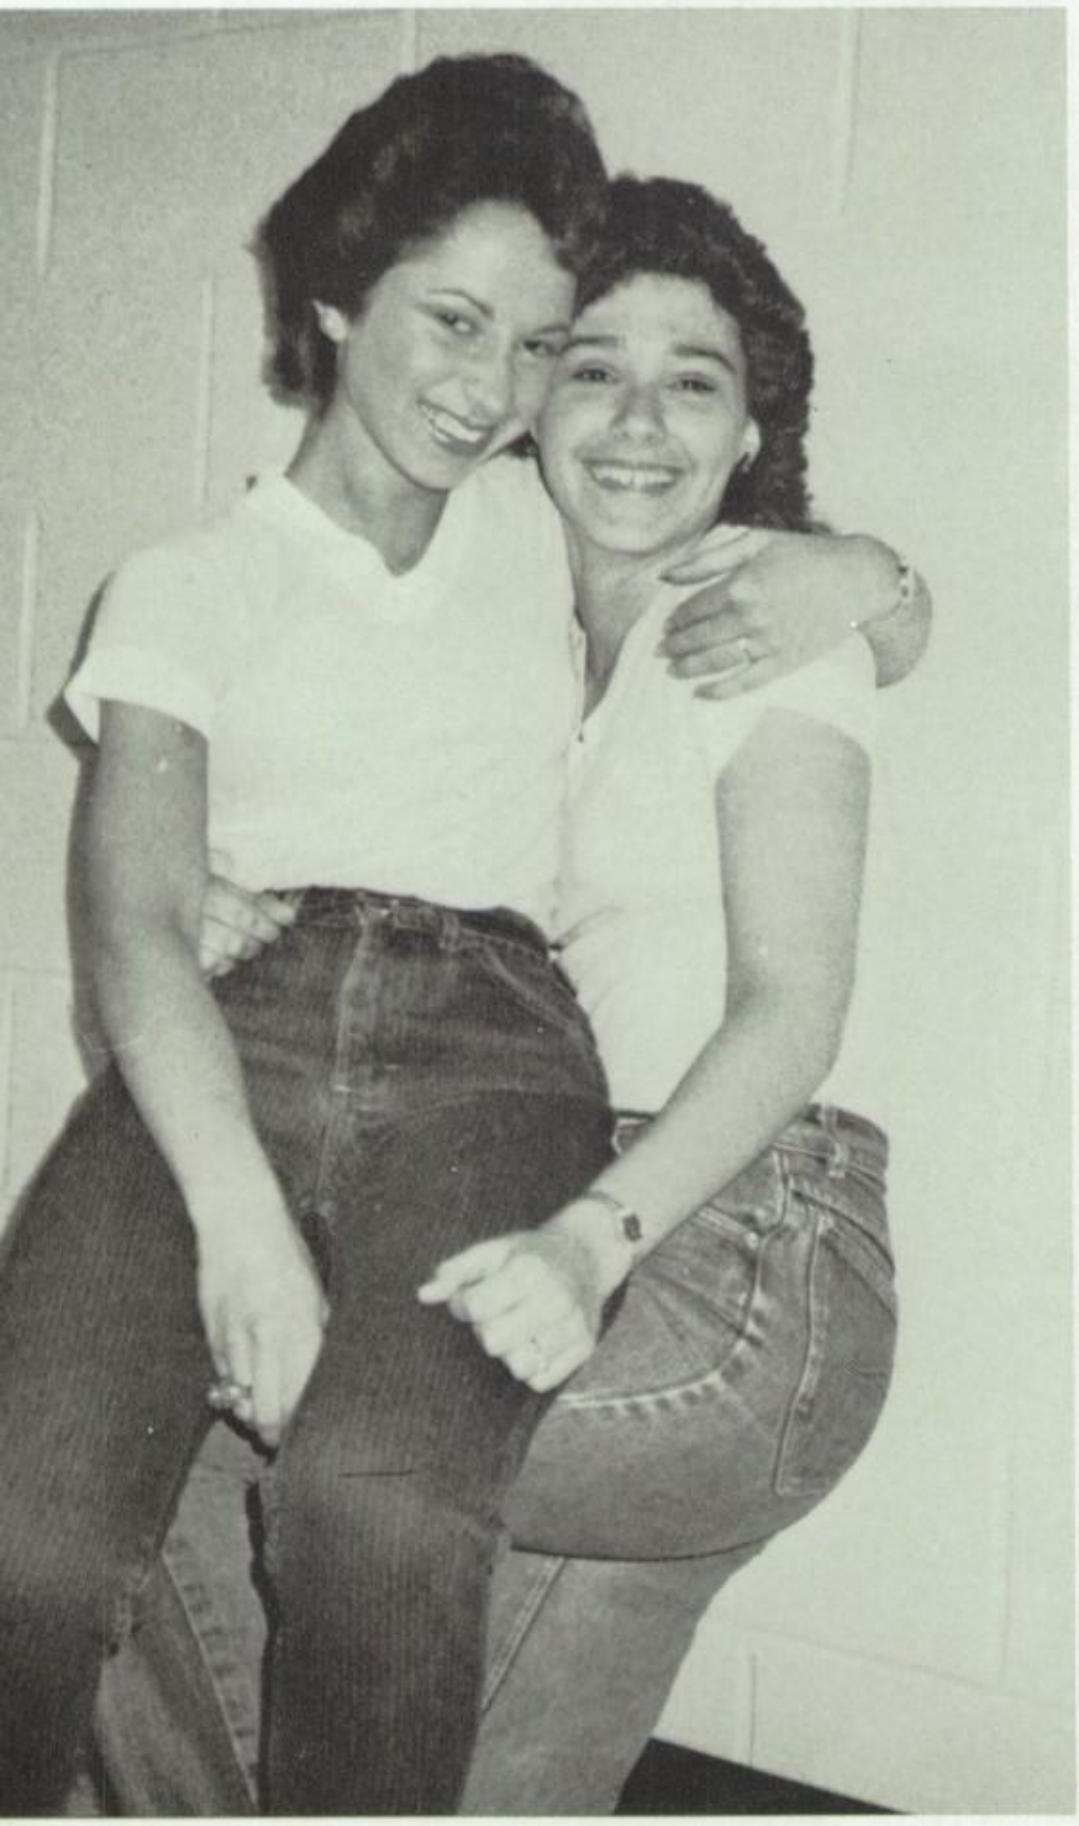
Terry and Tom Learn

Cathy and Carole Aikins

In the hallways of A-R, it is easy for one to become confused. A student sees a friend walking in one direction while their twin walks in the other. Though they appear alike, they are unique. This is the cause for "Double Trouble."

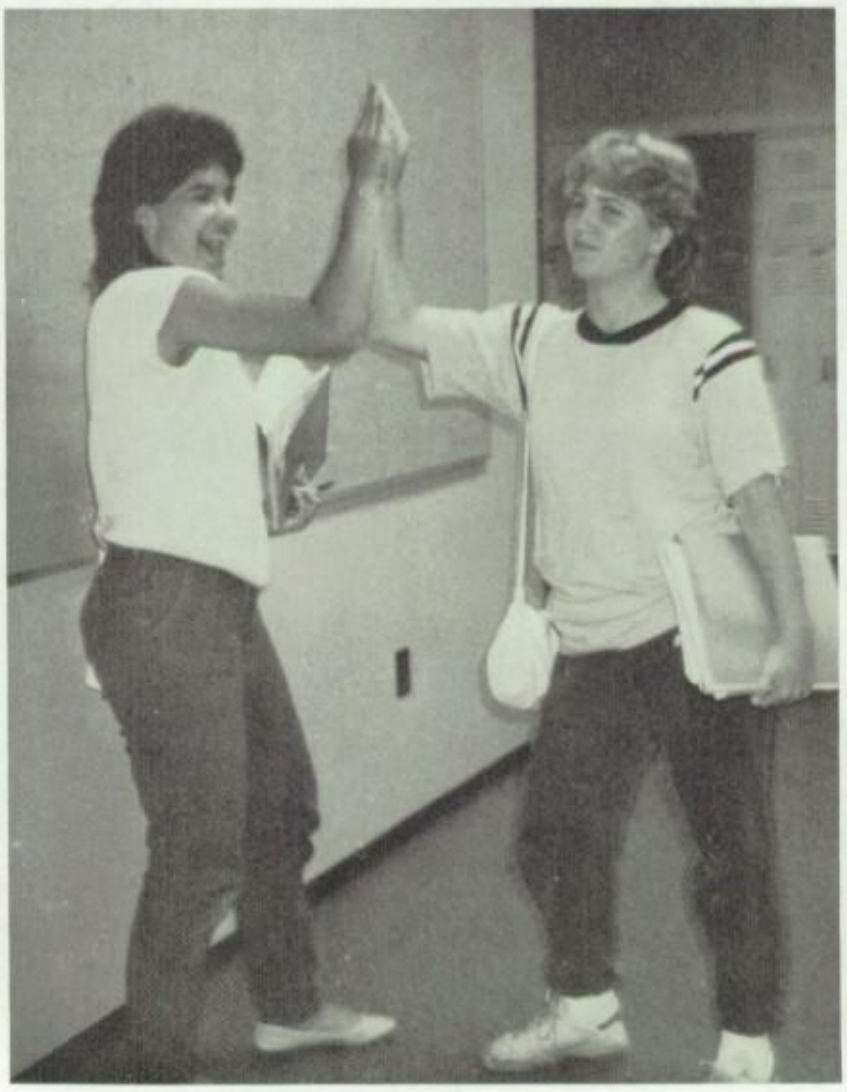
Maria Posney and Mary Bogdanski.

There's a different kind of "twins" roaming A-R. Unlike the others who have no choice, these twins form a special binding relationship. Usually when you see one, the other is not far behind. These friendships provide some of the best memories from high school.



Melanie Turk and Keri Strong

Tracy Learn and Debbie Ogden



Cory Tiani and Corrie Bentz

Every teacher's room is different. After sitting in a room for 180 days, one seems to memorize every detail. The decor varies from simple posters and stickers to graphical art. Many of the rooms will be fondly remembered by some while despised by others. As seen here, the teachers have transformed their boring, dull classrooms into colorful expressions of their personalities. Do you remember these artists?

ill Out (Chil owt) — cool down; e it easy

Chill out, Shawn.

t Out (git owt) — I don't believe it; are serious?

Phil says, "Get out!"

ve me a break (Gimme a ake) — don't bother me; sure

Give me a break!!!

ey, Bud (Hāy bud) — ond greeting; "hi!"

Hey, Bud!

ake my Day (māk mī dā) — I re you; go ahead

Go ahead, make my day!

Psyche (sīke) — Gotcha, just joking; wow

"PSYCHE!"

So I lied (so I lyd) — a modest admission of guilt; what can I say?

So I lied . . .

This is True (thiz iz troo) — I heard that; that's right

Yeah, this is true.

Stud (stud) — someone who is egotistical; a heartbreaker.

What a stud!

Totally Awesome (tōtilleē ahsum) — Far out; neato!

This is definitely totally awesome.

Good Luck Turns To Bad When

. . . you get an "A" on a surprise quiz in school

. . . and the teacher decides not to count the grade.

. . . you hit a home run to win the baseball game for your team

. . . and the ball goes through a neighbor's picture window.

. . . you recover the basketball from the opposing team and run down the court to make a basket

. . . only to find out that you ran the wrong way.

. . . you finally get in step with the rest of the band

. . . you suddenly realize they stopped and are standing at parade rest.

Homecoming

October 12th was long awaited by 7 of A-R's finest Seniors. The homecoming game was somewhat of a disappointment with a final score of 0-14, a loss to Burrell, but the homecoming festivities made up for it. The Senior class of '85 had a really hard decision to make in choosing a queen to represent them. The Valhalla Staff was proud to see their editor, Bonnie Hollis, crowned 1984-85 homecoming queen.

May 11, 1985 was definitely "A Night in Heaven" at Apollo-Ridge. The Junior class worked long and hard to make this prom a success. The entertainment was provided by Astra from 9:00 to 1:00, a Hypnotist from 1:00 to 2:00, and Video Fantasy from 2:00 to 5:00.

ACTIVITIES

ACTING IS AN ART AT A-R

"Hey, I saw you blink first, Pat!"

Mike, Tammy is NOT that kind of a girl!

Every year, certain members of the student body d faculty combine talent and wits to prepare for upcoming plays. This year, the Drama Club esented two plays: The Mouse that Roared and e Invisible Man.

The cast spent many long, hard, after-school earsals to perfect their parts. Congratulations to cast and crew and everyone who helped to make s year a big success!

"What are you two up to now?"

"Sharon, pay attention to John!"

Hiho, Hiho, off to work we go

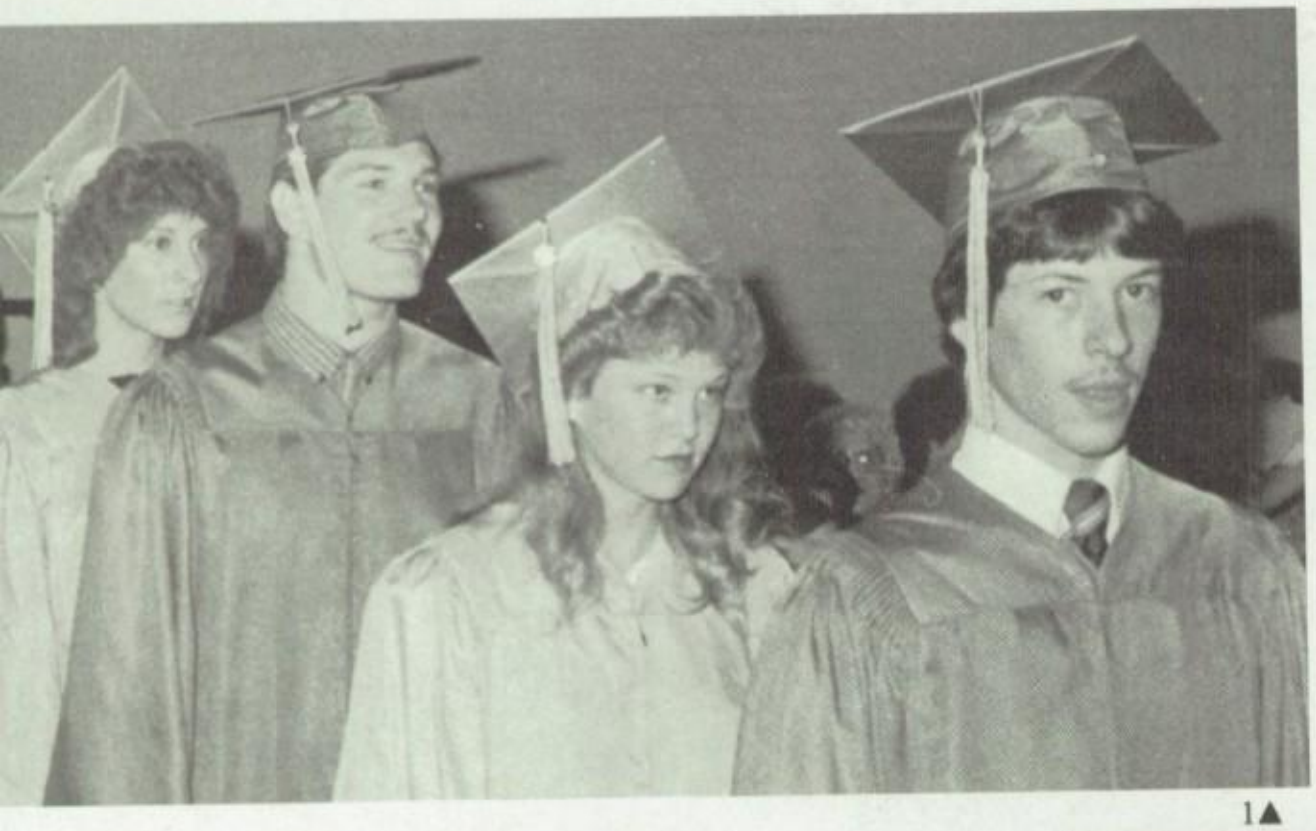
Graduation



1▲

Each year another class enters society as graduates. These young people have many options as they leave high school. Some of them go on to College or a trade school, some join the service and yet others go straight to work. At this time, the members of the Valhalla staff would like to say congratulations and best of luck to the graduating class of 1985. We'll miss you!

Madrigal Dinner

The singers make a stunning entrance.

On December 15, 1984, Mr. Litz, the Mixed Ensemble, and volunteers from the faculty and the student body decided it was time to unveil the annual Madrigal Dinner.

The entertainment consisted of a jester, minstrels, jugglers, a skit, and the Mixed Ensemble.

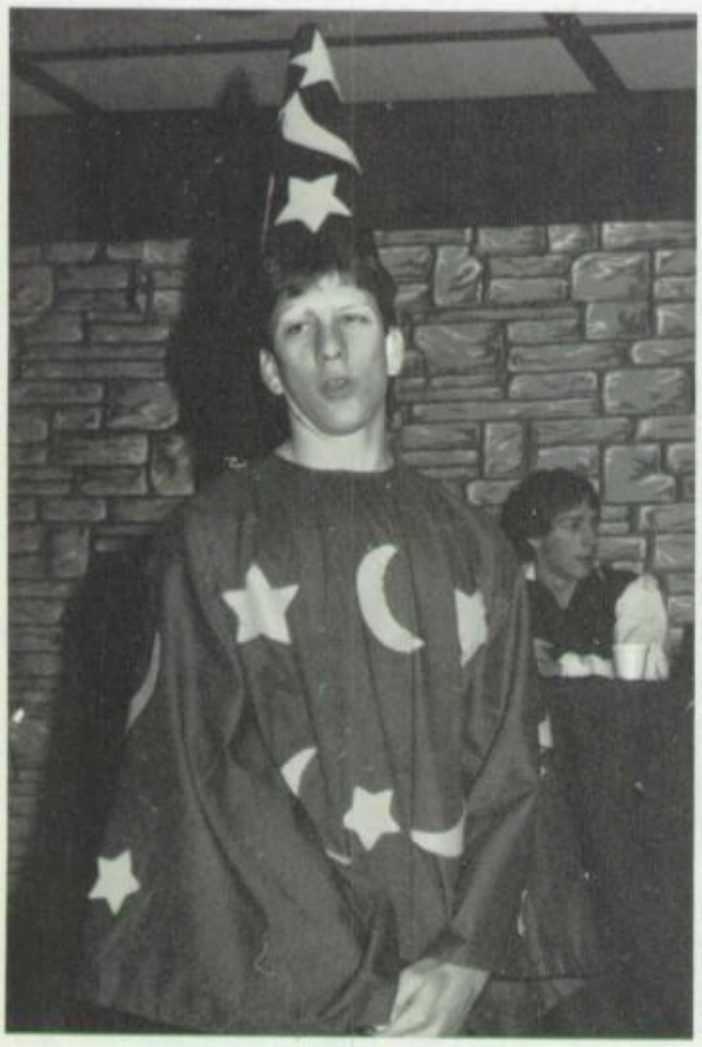
The people involved put long hours of hard work into making this dinner a success. Congratulations on a job well done!

p: What a fabulous couple! Right: The Mixed Ensemble ows their stuff.

Keri, don't look so suspicious.

Obviously, there is more than just singing in the Madrigal.

Is this our future?



Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star . . .

Gartley is up to his old tricks.

What are you drinking?

DAH!

Jessie, you look so cool!

1. The members of the staff give us smile.

Every year the yearbook staff tries to make the year book more exciting and worthwhile. This year I received a lot of help from certain members. I would like to thank Trina O'Dell and Bonnie Ruddock for their hard work and dedication toward the yearbook.

Sincerely,

Bonnie Hollis

Band Banquet

On May 18th, 1985, the band, colorguard, and majorettes honored the seniors at the annual banquet. After the traditional buffet-style meal, the students danced to popular hits played by a disc jockey. During intermission, prizes donated by local businesses were distributed as door prizes. The banquet was an overall success.

The Ghosts and Ghouls of A-R

Every year at Apollo-Ridge, the entire student body and faculty have the opportunity to dress-up in their favorite costume for Halloween. Each homeroom has one representative. During lunch, the student body votes for their favorite costume among those homeroom representatives. Prizes are awarded to winners of each grade and to the overall winner. The winner of the entire school receives a free yearbook. Here are some of the homeroom winners. Can you unmask these familiar faces?

Unsere Deutschen Freunde

On March 27th, 1985, thirty students from Wurzburg, West Germany arrived at the Pittsburgh airport. A party was held on April 2nd to welcome the German students to America. A few of the students participated in the school talent show. On April 12th, the German students and their hosts went to Pittsburgh to tour Phipps Conservatory and the Carnegie Museum. On April 19, 20, and 21, they visited Washington, D.C. On April 23rd, a farewell party was held in honor of the German students. They departed reluctantly on April 24th. Their arrival was exciting, but the departure was sad for many people. Mrs. Bowman deserves a special thanks for arranging and supporting A-R's German Exchange Program.

The Viking track team posted another successful season under the guidance of coaches Morgan, Kolessar, and Maschak. Many bright spots highlighted still another winning season, including: Section XVII — AA Champions, Indiana County Champions, A-R Invitational Champions, W.P.I.A.L. Second Place Team Championships, and A.I.C. Junior Varsity Championships. Led by the seniors, the Vikings tipped the won/loss scales definitely in their favor. Certainly the underclassmen will carry on the tradition next season.

Apollo-Ridge has always been recognized for its excellent track program. This year, it was extended to the girls of A-R. It was an impressive first year team with an impressive first year coach, Mrs. Crusan. Although the boys' record was a hard act to follow, the girls made a great effort. We wish them luck in future years.

Coach Crusan shows how much she really cares.

As with every year, T. R. Thompson gave up a lot of his time in order to take pictures for our yearbook. Although most people don't know this, T. R. did this free of charge, which was very gracious. This page is dedicated to him to show how grateful we are to him for his kindness. Thank-you very much, T. R.
